I love my gentle budgie,
I call him Sweetheart Jack,
'Cause every time I kiss him,
He kisses me right back.

He's such a pretty budgie,
A darling little bird,
His silvery song at dawn is
The sweetest ever heard.

THE LAND OF COUNTERPANE

When I was sick and lay a-bed,
I had two pillows at my head,
And all my toys beside me lay
To keep me happy all the day.

And sometimes for an hour or so
I watched my leaden soldiers go
With different uniforms and drills
Among the bedclothes through the hills.

I was the giant, great and still,
That sits upon the pillow-hill,
And sees before him, dale and plain,
The pleasant land of counterpane.

R. L. Stevenson.

A colorful illustration of two children sledding down a snowy hill. The child in the foreground is a boy wearing a blue jacket, red hat, and red gloves, smiling and holding the sled's runners. Behind him is a girl wearing a yellow jacket, pink hat, and pink scarf, also smiling. They are both wearing winter boots. The sled is a simple wooden sled with metal runners. The background is a soft, white, snowy landscape with some faint footprints or tracks in the snow.
